

OVERVIEW AND TIMELINE

'CHESHIRE ARCHIVES – A STORY SHARED'

CHERHUB recently posted on several Facebook groups that Cheshire East Council are set to spend a WHOPPING £6,433,000 of taxpayer's money in 2025/26 on a Brand New Historical Archive Centre in Crewe, despite the loss of essential services to both Middlewich and Bollington.

Some residents were quick to point out that it was their understanding that the Archive project was being funded by The National Lottery Heritage Fund. Whilst it is accurate that the project is being "supported" by the Heritage Fund, media releases in relation to this claim have been somewhat misleading and we felt that it was important to provide the evidence to support our claim.

We have extracted information from the National Lottery, Economy and Growth Committee meetings, Cheshire East Council media releases and the Service Budget for 2025/26 that we believe should clarify the position.

Funding news!

We have awarded £4.5m of #NationalLottery funding to Cheshire East Council and Cheshire West and Chester Council towards their 'Cheshire's Archives: A Story Shared' project

National Lottery Heritage Fund – grant increases

Cheshire's archives: a story shared

Applicant: Cheshire West & Chester Council

Decision: Award grant increase of £1,950,000 to make a total grant of £6,405,100

There is certainly some confusion as to exactly how much the National Lottery Heritage Fund have actually awarded Cheshire East Council and Cheshire West and Chester but the 'grant increase' statement above was announced in July 2024.

5.18 Another exciting project is the History Centre - Design and feasibility work is progressing for the project. The aim being to provide a new building to both accommodate part of the Cheshire archive and a local history facility on the site of the former Crewe Library and adjacent undercroft car park. This project requires a cocktail of funding. Whilst a significant amount has been identified through the Heritage Lottery Fund, FHSF and Towns Fund, it is also dependent on co-funding from the Council. Part of this requirement relates to the cost of demolishing the former Crewe Library and adjoining Civic Centre Car Park. A second stage bid to National Lottery Heritage Fund to support this project is planned for spring/summer 2022.

7 December 2022*Cheshire East Council Media Release

Today, it can be announced that The National Lottery Heritage Fund has agreed to provide funding to contribute towards the delivery of the new facilities in Chester and Crewe, which will replace the Cheshire Record Office, in Chester, and allow the service to better protect and share the historic records.

Planning applications for the two centres were recently submitted and decisions on the plans are expected to be made before spring.

If they are approved, the grant from the Heritage Fund of £4.45m, which has been made possible through money raised by National Lottery players, would allow for construction of the centres to go ahead.

8.2.1 The project's Quantity Surveyors' latest cost estimate for the delivery phase of the project is £25.7 million. Each council will provide £10 million, while the Heritage Fund grant is £4.5 million. In addition, Cheshire West and Chester Council's Climate Emergency Fund will provide £0.6 million to enable the centre in Chester to achieve the BREEAM Excellent sustainability standard, while Cheshire East Council's Towns Fund grant will fund £0.4 million of related public realm enhancements in Crewe. The balance of £0.2 million will be sought through a range of trusts and foundations over the lifetime of the project and will fund some of the project's community engagement activities as detailed in its activity plan

8.2.2 Funding to support the delivery stage is within both Councils' capital programmes with £10,250 million currently within CEC's main capital programme. There is also a £380,000 contribution that is in the block allocation for the Crewe Town's Fund. Future revenue implications are included in the council's medium term financial strategy.

51 The Cultural Economy team's work on the bid to the National Lottery Heritage Fund for the shared service 'Archives - A Story Shared' programme, including the building of the new History Centre in Crewe, was successful in achieving a £4.9 million grant, with all funding now secured. Planning permission for sites in Crewe and Chester was secured in March 2023. Infrastructure and Construction company 'Kier' have been contracted to develop both sites and have completed RIBA 4 stage on time and to budget.

1 August 2024

Cheshire East Media Release

1 August 2024

The start date is nearing for construction of two new history centres that will co-host the region's archives.

Cheshire Archives and Local Studies is a shared service of Cheshire East Council and Cheshire West and Chester Council. It looks after the county's unique and irreplaceable written and pictorial history, which dates back more than 900 years.

The service's current base, the Record Office in Chester, will close its doors on 8 August so that the whole team, with the help of volunteers, can prepare the thousands of historical records for the move to the two new state-of-the-art history centres that will replace it.

Construction of the new centres – one in Crewe and one in Chester – is set to begin in autumn. The project, called 'Cheshire's archives: a story shared', will transform the way the archives service works and open up the collections to a whole new audience.

The history centres will feature new exhibition and event spaces, new research rooms, workspace for staff and volunteers, as well as environmentally stable storage for the archives.

In Cheshire East, the history centre will be based next to Memorial Square in Crewe town centre. The area around where it will be is currently being revamped to provide an attractive new setting for the facility.

The archives project is supported by funding of £6.4m from The National Lottery Heritage Fund, made possible by National Lottery players.

There's further cause for celebration as the project has also been awarded a new £300,000 grant from the Wolfson Foundation.
